MESSAGE FROM THE MD

Dear Members,

We would love to see your participation at the upcoming ADAM Global Asia & Africa Regional Meeting in Bangkok, Thailand. This meeting is in collaboration with our Partners McMillan Woods Global (McWG). McWG is a world class network of qualified accountants and professional advisers with offices across Asia.

We intend for this meeting to facilitate the interaction of ADAM Global's & McMWG members to explore and identify mutual synergies in expanding the scope of cross-border business opportunities.

Thailand, in itself offers an open economy, encouraging foreign direct investment as a means to promote economic development, employment and technology transfer.

Our meetings place a strong emphasis on participant interaction and in the nurturing of relationships for mutual benefits for both ADAM Global and McMWG members.

Economies across Asia are actively involved in the opportunity by the emerging continent of Africa & ADAM Global aims to facilitate and optimize these opportunities. We focus to promote insights into the legal, financial, investment and technology aspects relating to this.

We still have some availability but encourage you to confirm your participation as soon as possible and to join us for what promises to be an exciting two days of gaining information, networking and building business relations with like minded professionals.

Enclosed you will find our full agenda with certain options for social pleasure, too.

I very much look forward to welcoming and meeting you in Bangkok.

With very Best Wishes,

Yogan Yoganandan

Thailand maintains an open, market-oriented economy, and encourages foreign direct investment as a means of promoting economic development, employment, and technology transfer. Southeast Asian emerging economies including Thailand are stepping in the African continent searching for natural resources, markets for their products, and opportunities for investment. Attached to the processes of economic growth in the African continent, the emergence of new international partners must be highlighted. The emergent presence of China in various African economies has become the outstanding feature of any economic analysis focusing on the continent and its relaunched relations with Asia and this would be at the core of this conference exploring cross border business opportunities and providing an insight into the regions well known legal, financial, investment and technology sectors.

ABOUT THAILAND

Among the Southeast Asian economies, the ones showing an increasing presence in Africa are Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore, and Thailand. Trade is underpinning these relations, with Thailand and Singapore being the most important trading partners from the region.

Thailand, the second largest economy in ASEAN after Indonesia, is an upper middle-income country with an open economy, a gross domestic product (GDP) of $479 billion, and 3.9% growth in 2017.

Thailand is the 26th largest export destination for the United States. Among countries in Asia, Thailand ranks as the United States' 9th largest export destination after China, Japan, Hong Kong, South Korea, Singapore, Taiwan, India, and Malaysia. Two-way trade of goods and services in 2017 averaged $42 billion, with $31.2 billion in Thai exports to the U.S. and $10.8 billion in U.S. exports to Thailand.

U.S. exports to Thailand increased by 3.8%, while U.S. imports from Thailand increased by 5.8% for the same period in 2017.

An export-dependent economy, Thailand exported a total of $236 billion in 2017. The United States was Thailand's second largest export market (11.2%), led by China (12.4%) and followed by Japan (9.4%). The top ten export items were machinery including computers (17%), electrical equipment (14.4%), vehicles (12.1%), rubber (6.9%), gems (5.4%), plastics (5.4%), minerals (3.5%), meat and seafood preparations (2.7%), optical/technical/medical apparatus (2.4%), and cereals (2.3%).

Thailand is one of the world's most visited countries, and tourism is vital to the Thai economy; it contributed approximately 9.4% of the country's GDP in 2017. Tourism is expected to rise by 7.8% in 2018. Thailand recorded 35.4 million tourist arrivals in 2017, an 8.8% increase on the previous year. The nine main airports of Thailand served a record 129.2 million passengers (including 1 million Americans), up from 121.7 million recorded in 2016.
